User prompt: I will provide a set of test complaints. For each complaint, follow the prompt provided and return your classification. Do not change the complaint or add information that is not present in it. I will provide a set of test complaints. For each complaint, follow the prompt provided and return your classification. Do not change the complaint or add information that is not present in it. Please process each test case independently and do not refer to your previous answers when classifying a new complaint. Wait for me to provide the first prompt and test case.

Response: Understood! I am ready. Please provide your prompt and test cases, and I will process each one independently according to your instructions.

User prompt: The task is to classify each complaint into exactly one of these categories: Delivery, Billing, Product Quality, or Customer Service.

Response: Please provide the complaints you would like me to classify!

Once you share them, I'll categorize each one into Delivery, Billing, Product Quality, or Customer Service.
